WHITMAN NOT TO CALL ASSEMBLY SESSION FOR ACTION ON N. Y. STRIKE

Governor Denies Situation Justifies Such Drastic Measures

FRANE HOPES FOR TIE-UP

State Organizer Admits Leaders Desire to Realize Threats of Complete Walk-Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Governor Whitman let it be known shortly before noon today that he would not call a special session of the New York legislature to deal with the threatened general strike here, called for tomorrow morning. He stated that he would receive the committee of legislators this afternoon, but made it clear by his attitude that he did not believe the present situation called for such drastic action.

A new plan of strategy has been evolved by the conference of labor leaders for the industrial tie-up. The majority of the individual unions that are to be enlisted in the general walkout in sympathy with the striking carmen will be placed in a position where they can tell their employers: "We don't want to strike. We were forced to suspend work because the 'key' union struck."

Hugh Frayne, state organizer for the American Federation of Labor, admitted that in this way the leaders hope to realize their threat to tie up the whole city.

With this sweeping change in the tactics of the strike agitators and the refusal of Governor Whitman to call a special session of the legislature, the situation has assumed more serious proportions. After revealing his "trump card," Frayne said:

"So you see how absolutely sure it is that there will not be any hitch in our plans. I will not make any definite estimate of the number that will go out tomorrow morning. But I will say that a large majority will go out and before the week is over, many more trades will follow suit."

Announcement was made late this afternoon of the following developments:

The International Ladies' Garment Workers, numbering 115,000, voted to strike.

The United Hebrew Trades, with a membership of 200,000, "practically decided" to strike.

Building Trades, comprising 100,000 workers in Manhattan and the Bronx, voted to strike.

Other building trades with a total membership of 15,000 have been virtually enlisted in the general walkout plan.

In explaining the new plan under which most of the unions will be made to appear as the martyrs of the "key" organizations, Frayne said:

"It will not even be necessary for some union to take a vote on going out. For instance, if the longshoremen do not quit and the teamsters go on strike, the docks won't be so congested in a few days that the longshoremen would have to quit anyhow."

In quitting "voluntarily" however, Frayne explained the unions would commit a breach of contract.

Twenty-eight trades in the Bronx are to be called out by the Bronx board of business agents, according to a decision reached last night, Frayne asserted.

STRIKE DANGER GROWS.

Governor Whitman Alarmed Over Situation in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—An immediate call by Governor Whitman of an extraordinary session of the legislature to compel arbitration loomed large today as a possible plan to avert the industrial tie-up threatened for tomorrow morning in sympathy with the striking New York carmen.

A legislative committee of nine will meet the governor this afternoon and urge him to take this step at once. Indications today were that the strike leaders would not oppose such action. General reluctance has been shown among the labor organizations regarding the call for a general strike to aid the carmen's "cause." In some quarters the belief prevails that merely the calling of the legislature would have important effect on the labor men.

Veiled criticism of Governor Whitman's attitude toward the strike situation was contained in a resolution originally adopted by the 14 legislators who are behind the new plan of solution [illegible] tion referred to "apparent acquiescence of the governor [illegible] State of New York, who apparently minimizes the magnitude of the crisis."

This was stricken from the final draft as was a suggestion to extend the powers of the public service commission to compel arbitration.

White Slave Statute Means Employed to Get Hush Money.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Amazing disclosures of how he was bilked of $15,000 by members of the so-called Million Dollar Blackmail syndicate who caught him in a compromising position with one of the bands "comeons" in the Ansonia hotel, New York, were made here today by Edward R. West, a wealthy Hyde Park importer.

The woman with whom he was trapped was Buda Goodman, a striking brunette, who, with Helen Evers, did the luring for the syndicate. She was under arrest here today, awaiting preliminary hearing of other members of the gang.

West is a widower and wealthy. He is vice president of the C. D. Gregg Tea and Coffee company of Chicago and New York.

In order that others might take heed and profit by his humiliating experience, West said, he decided to make public the sensational details of his case.

U. S. COMMISSION READY TO SUBMIT AGREEMENT PLAN

Satisfied of Mexican Board's Inability to Secure an American Loan.

Will Recommend Guarantee of Pay, Keep Conference and Patrol Border.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 26.—Satisfied of the inability of the Mexican commission to induce American bankers to float a loan of $100,000,000, or more, the American commissioners are prepared to submit a proposal for the establishment of a practical financial protectorate over Mexico. This was learned on high authority today.

The plan is this:

To guarantee the payment of the interest and principal on a Mexican loan.

To establish an American commission to supervise the expenditures in the rehabilitation of Mexico.

To establish, as a collateral issue, a constabulary under the partial control of this commission, for patrolling the northern section of Mexico and for the protection of the border. This border patrol, under the present plan, would be officered for the most part by American military men, and made up of Mexicans qualified for the positions.

The Mexican commissioners, however, made it plain today that they are not convinced of their inability to negotiate a loan on which to base

National Mediation Board May Result From Action.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Creation of a national board of mediation and conciliation, with broadest possible powers, but just short of the right to enforce compulsory arbitration may be the outcome of the action of President Wilson in inviting suggestions of the best way to reconcile capital and labor.

The president's appeal for suggestions is likely to meet with a ready response. Labor leaders here, and the few senators and representatives still in Washington, are studying the situation very carefully. They agree with the statement of the president that the "greatest menace apparent" to the continued prosperity of the country is the increasing unrest in the labor world.

Organized labor leaders, however are chary of endorsing any plan that might tie their hands in enforcing their demands through a strike. All who would talk at all insisted today that the strike is labor's greatest weapon and that they are opposed to any action that would in

ALLIES SMASH WAY INTO COMBLES, KEY TO PERONNE; GREATEST ADVANCE OF WAR PROBABLE ON SOMME

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Smashing their way forward in a series of joint assaults the allies have won a big victory on the Somme front by penetrating the important town of Combles. Desperate hand to hand fighting is now raging in the streets between the French troops and the remnants of the German garrison.

Attacking the German positions simultaneously from the north and south the British and French vied with each other to be the first to enter Combles, the honor falling to General Hugh's men. However, the French were able to occupy the southern outskirts and Combles cemetery on the eastern edge of the town.

To the east of Combles the Germans were rolled back from fortified villages which they strove stubbornly to hold. By the capture of Fregicourt a mile east of Combles by the French, the allies forged a steel ring around the town and cut the only lines of communications that the Germans still held.

The Germans tried unsuccessfully to lessen the pressure on the Somme front by attacking south of Bethune. These attacks were repulsed.

On the eastern front the Russians are again flinging great masses of troops against the German and Austro-Hungarian positions and violent battles have developed, particularly in the Carpathians.

Savage fighting continues at many points along the battle line in Greek Macedonia. On the western end of this front the Bulgarians made strong counter attacks which the French, Russians and Servians have checked. In addition to successful actions over the battle fronts both the allies and Germans carried out raids.

TWO MORE SONS MAY DIE AT VAN WERT HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF TRAGEDY

Physicians Fear Both Binkley Boys Received Fractures of the Skull

ONE FUNERAL FOR FOUR

Parents and Dead Brothers to Be Laid to Rest In Shawnee Township Cemetary

In front of the small pulpit stand in St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Shawnee township, four miles southwest of Lima, four caskets, holding the remains of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Binkley of Shawnee township, and their two sons, Victor and Harley, will be placed in a row, for the funeral services, which will be held over the bodies Wednesday at 1 o'clock. All were killed in a grade crossing accident near Middlepoint, on Sunday afternoon, when the carriage in which they were driving was struck by a fast Pensylvania train.

The Rev. Mr. Wingert, pastor of the Lutheran church at New Hampshire, will conduct the services. It is expected the Rev. C. H. Eckhardt of Lima, pastor of St. Matthew's church, will assist at the services. Music for the service will be furnished by the choir of the church.

The bodies will be laid to rest in four graves, made in a row, in St. Matthew's cemetery, across the road from the church. Harley is 14 years of age and Victor, 7.

Information received from the hospital at Van Wert, where Rolla Binkley, 12, and Noah Binkley, 16 years old, were removed after the accident, is to the effect that their condition as to recovery or the fatality of their injuries is a matter of doubt. Physicians hold out little hope. It will be months before the sons are restored to health, if ever.

They are conscious at times and then lapse into unconsciousness.

Skulls of Both Fractured.

It is feared both have fractured skulls. No bones are believed to have been broken in the bodies of either of the boys.

The back portion of the mother's head was crushed and her jaw broken. The father's head was crushed and nearly every bone in his body broken. Harley suffered a crushed skull, broken shoulders and both legs and arms were broken. The face of Victor, the small son, was crushed in, legs, thighs and arms broken. No ribs were broken in the mother's body, but in the case of father and the two dead sons, nearly every rib was broken.

It is said that Miss Leona Clark, daughter of Willis Clark, who lives near the scene of the accident, furnished the acting coroner with the most probable explanation of the accident. She was an eye witness to the same.

Miss Clark says that a freight train was standing on the side north of the main tracks and that as the surrey approached the crossing, the driver was unable to see the passenger train until he was crossing the sidetrack. Discovering the approaching train, Miss Clark says the driver pulled and tugged at the reins to keep the horse away from the main line, but it was only a moment until the crash came. The train is said to have been running 35 minutes late and was traveling at a faster rate than usual.

J. S. Snavely, operator at the tower near the crossing, who witnessed the accident, says that he saw the fast passenger train coming down the track at about the same time that he saw the surrey approaching. The train whistled and he thought they heard it. He declares Mr. Binkley himself was driving. He also states Mr. Binkley whipped up the horse and Operator says his first thought was a wreck. He states he may have shouted a warning, but is not sure.

The four bodies arrived in Lima from Middlepoint last night by way of the Ohio Electric and were taken to the Binkley family home in Shawnee township, reaching there about 9:30 o'clock. In the parlor of the country home, the four bodies are resting, until the funeral services tomorrow. Hundreds of people have called to view the bodies and express sympathy to the three older children, who by reason of the fact they remained at home to care for the stock, might have suffered a like fate.

Miss Dorothy Binkley, the daughter, is prostarted at the accident. Edgar and Luther, the latter of Detroit, are surviving children.

ARRAIGN NEGRO IN COURT; SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

Charles Daniels Denies He is Assailant of Mrs. Baber.

TRIAL DUE OCTOBER 4

Geo. Saxby, Alleged Rioter, Asks All the Time He Can Get.

Charles Daniels, negro, who was arrested after the attack upon Mrs. Vivian Baber in her Shawnee township home on August 30, and who is held in the Allen county jail on an indictment returned by the grand jury for rape, was arraigned in court this morning at 11 o'clock. The indictment was read to Daniels and he immediately answered, "not guilty." He was the last called in the number of prisoners arraigned this morning.

His trial was set for next Wednesday, October 4. Judge Klinger appointed an attorney to defend him. The court room contained only a small number of spectators to see Daniels arraigned, most of whom were officials and deputies.

Judge Klinger yesterday set the trial of George Saxby, who was one among the 16 indicted in the partial report of the grand jury on September 7, for October 26. The trial of Milton Spyker, charged as was Saxby with attack of an officer with intent to lynch prisoner, is set for Monday, October 23, and will be the first to be heard upon these indictments.

Saxby asked the court himself yesterday to be given all the time that could be allowed, as he had important testimony to present in his case and could not get ready for early trial.

Agnes Densmore and Gilbert, indicted on a like charge, pleaded not guilty, when arraigned yesterday. Their trials were set for November 13 and Attorney L. E. Ludwig was appointed by the court to defend them.

Eddie Hall, indicted on a like charge, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for October 30. August Decamp, also indicted on a like charge, will be called in court on November 16. Trials of the other 16 indicted men have not yet been set by the court.

O'BRIEN RELEASED WITH STERN REBUKE

Boy Admits Burglary and Get Mercy From Judge.

Judge William Klinger, who yesterday heard the plea of Charles E. O'Brien that he was guilty, after the indictment charging burglary of an uninhabited building, was read to him and he said he was guilty, let the young man off with a lighter sentence than usual and gave him a fatherly lecture.

Judge Klinger said no young man could afford to go through life with the stigma of the prison around his neck. O'Brien said he intended to do right. The court said it felt like giving him another chance, so it placed a suspended sentence to the Mansfield reformatory against him and he must pay the costs in the case, which will be no small amount.

O'Brien, on July 22, entered the home of J. W. Burkholder on North Main street. Judge Klinger told him to stay away from saloons and choose his associates from men who do not drink.

Charles Atchison and Cecil Honsack, indicted for burglarizing an uninhabited building, pleaded not guilty. They were sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary and to pay the court costs. The sentence was suspended during good behavior and while they conform to the rules. They entered the Wahmoff storeroom in Delphos on February 10 and took therefrom habit-forming drugs. They were sent to the Leavenworth penitentiary and secured their release on a writ of habeaus corpus. Prosecutor Barr at once returned them to answer in this county on requisition.

Pleas of other prisoners were as follows:

William Henderson and Frank Vanslyke, indicted for burglary and larceny in stealing 21 pairs of shoes from the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway company on July 6, were arraigned. Henderson pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory and to pay costs. Vanslyke said he was not guilty and his trial was set for October 9. Kies and Garling were appointed to defend him.

John Lee, indicted for carrying concealed weapons, was sentenced to pay $10 and costs.

Charles Eddingbirde, indicted for shooting with intent to kill Ira Stumbaugh, on July 12, pleaded not guilty. His trial is set for October 18. Attorney Beryl A. Crites was named to defend him.

Ralph Jones, indicted for larceny in stealing property to the value of $48 from ex-Sheriff Marion Watt on July 15, pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to the reformatory and to pay costs, but during good behavior the sentence is suspended.

Clarence Coffman, indicted for pocket picking and taking $4.20 from George Brown on July 19, pleaded not guilty. To the indictment of abandonment of his minor children, Coffman pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for October 3. Attorney Francis W. Durbin was named to defend him.

William McLaughlin against whom an indictment for burglay of an uninhabited building belonging to William M. Payne on August 30, was returned, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for October 2. Attorney Walter Ridenour was named to defend him. Mr. Payne was awakened and caught the man as he entered the house.

Tony Walach, indicted for murder in the second degree for the killing of Paul Dragash, his countyrman, on August 20, said he was not guilty. His trial is set for October 10.

Charles Anderson, indicted for burglary in breaking into the office of Victor Frankhart on May 12, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for October 4. Attorney E. M. Berkins was named to defend him.

Charles Carr, indicted for larceny in connection with the stealing of a motorcycle from Lee Haller on May 31, told the court he was not guilty. His trial was set for October 12. Attorney William Axline was appointed to defend him.

Edward Almar and Dolph Curtis, indicted for grand larceny, in stealing an automobile belonging to C. A. Hapner, on June 9, pleaded not guilty. Their trials were set for October 6, and Cable & Cable were appointed to defend him.

Harry Wilson, charged with stealing a horse belonging to Samuel Plummer and Charles F. Cook, valued at $100, on June 5, pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for October 16. M. A. Hoagland was named as his attorney.

An indictment of forgery and uttering and publishing a forged check was that to which Charles Glass pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for October 17. Walter Gerstenlauer was named as his attorney.

Benjamin F. Smith, indicted for abandonment of his minor children, and Owen Nelson for abandonment of his minor child, both pleaded not guilty. Smith's trial was set for October 13.

Eugene Griffith pleaded guilty to an indictment charging carrying concealed weapons. This morning he was fined $10 and costs.

Harry Johnson, indicted for burglarizing an uninhabited building belonging to Lester A. Scott on Sept. 11, was sentenced to the penitentiary and to pay costs when he told the court he was guilty.

Carl Snow, arrested on an indictment charging attack of officer with the purpose of lynching prisoner, pleaded not guilty.

Thomas Spencer, indicted for burglary of an uninhabited dwelling belonging to Fred Burkett on South Main street, said he was not guilty. Attorney J. Warren Kilgore was named to defend him. Trial is set October 5.

Frank Morris and Don Vorhees, indicted for larceny, were given a sentence of $5 and costs. The costs must be paid before October 25, else they will spend 20 days in the Toledo workhouse.

town restaurant," said West. "She was beautiful and polished, and I was led to believe that she had independent means of her own. We became very good friends. Shortly after our acquaintanceship had ripened into friendship I was called to New York on a business trip for my firm.

"She suggested that she make the trip with me. I was surprised, as I thought she was a girl of refinement. At first I refused; then, at her insistence, I agreed to it. We reached New York on May 9, and registered at the Ansonia hotel.

"We had been there several days. One night, or rather morning, there came a knock at our door. I opened it and in came three men. They were armed with warrants for our arrest. They had badges and 'credentials' which I now know to have been false, showing they were agents of the department of justice. They said we had violated the Mann act.

"I told them it was an outrage and that I would not submit to it. But Buda became hysterical. She said it meant ruin for her, that she was a convent-bred girl and it would kill her parents.

"She sobbed that it was all right for me, a man, to talk of fighting it because society would forgive a man where it put an irremovable blemish on a woman. She threatened to commit suicide. Then she became calmer and asked what she could do to save herself.

"It was intimatew by the three 'officers' that money might settle it. What was I to do? A girl of apparent culture had been placed in this position, and it was up to my chivalry, if nothing else, to get her out.

"We were taken to two state rooms 'under guard,' and hurried back to Chicago. We went to the Alexandria hotel, where I was informed U. S. Commissioner Foote lived. A hundred times I threatened to revolt and let everything go, but Buda pleaded that it meant ruin for her. I believed her. We were held there for several days while the so-called 'negotiations' were on.

"Then I paid them—in cash. The first installment was $12,500. Later I gave them $2,500."

MRS. RISE IN JAIL; BOY IS SENT HOME

Mrs. Margaret Rise, who was arrested Sunday night following an attempt to kidnap her son, whom the common pleas court of Montgomery county placed in the custody of the husband, Harry Rise, is still being held in the county jail pending the arrival of officers from Dayton, where she is wanted on a charge of bigamy.

In the meantime the nine-year-old son is again in the care of his grandparents who reside on Berryman's place. With the mother under arrest the father states that he has nothing to fear from the confederates who assisted her in the kidnapping attempt.

OWN FAIR GROUNDS, PAST OFFICERS SAY

Allen county may shortly own the grounds used for fair purposes. Resolutions were adopted by the Past Officers' Association of the Allen County Board of Agriculture, today, declaring it wise and necessary for the county to own and control the grounds used for fair purposes. The resolutions urged that as the lease on the present grounds expired within a short time, the proposition of securing grounds owned by the county be submitted to a vote of the people.

Over 100 attended and unanimously voted for the resolutions. Hon. John Begg, of Columbus Grove, Hon. N. W. Cunningham, of Bluffton, Hon. Walter B. Roche, of Lima, and Thomas Grubb, of Amanda township, were speakers this afternoon. Members of the association were on the program this morning.

HOLGATE STORE ROBBED.

Local police officials were informed of the robbery of a general stone at Holgate, O. Thieves gained entrance to the store through a window and made off with more than $100 worth of ties, suits and overcoats. The perpetrators of the job made their escape. No clue as to the identity of the robbers was obtained.

WILSON'S PLAN FOR MEDIATION GETS APPROVAL

any way abridge it. Most of them believe that a federal mediation board would be a first step toward compulsory arbitration.

It is known, however, that President Wilson and his advisors are convinced that some method of mediation must be decided on by congress in the immediate future. Just how it is to be brought about will have to be worked out through a modification of all plans that up to the present have been suggested. It is known that the president had hoped that the former federal commission on industrial relations would have found the way out but congress flatly ignored its recommendations, saying they were too radical.

However, much of the data that it compiled now is available for a new federal body if one is named. The president, it is expected, will dwell at length on this subject in his message to congress when it reconvenes next December.

From the labor leaders now in Washington the following expressions on the subject were obtained today:

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor:

"President Wilson's plan to evolve a general solution that will effectually prevent great labor disputes in the future, will, of course, have the cooperation of organized labor. Labor leaders will take advantage of his proposition to submit suggestions to this end. This is a problem which calls for deep study and at this time I am unable to outline my views on this question. I shall give the matter careful attention, however, and shall comply with the president's request whenever possible. The president's idea is worthy of commendation and co-operation."

James O'Connel, president, metal trades department, A. F. of L., and former member federal commission on industrial relations:

"Certainly in this enlightened age we should be able to fulfill President Wilson's plan to develop a general scheme which will elminiate future clashes between labor and capital. It is a big problem, but we should be able to work out a real solution. I am opposed to any plan which contemplates compelling the workingman to submit his claims or grievances to any tribunal. But I believe that the situation can be met by organization. If we can reach a point where well organized laboring men, banded together for their own advancement can sit down with representatives of their employers on terms of equality I feel confident that every possible difference between the two sides can be satisfactorialy adjusted. I do not believe much can be done by legal enactment."

George Preston, general secretary-treasurer, International Association of Machinists:

"There can be no question but that society as a rule is, and must remain, more powerful than any economic, municipal or military organization forming one of its component parts. The interest of said society must be determined by its government. On the other hand, the right of employes to strike when conditions either become unbearable or for a principle recognized by all well informed citizens—for instance, for the establishment of an eight-hour working day—must remain inviolate, and that, too, without arbitration if they so elect. Any form of arbitration carrying with it an enforcement of the award must end in the surrender of that collective individual interest, the guarantee of which is the main object of organized society—the protection of the weak against the strong.

"As soon as conditions reach that point where the consequences of a strike results in the closing down of an industry resulting in want and suffering on the part of the large numbers of people, the government must and will assume charge of such industries—possibly under a receivership—in order that the wants of the people may be supplied pending an agreement being reached and conditions again becoming normal."

NEW YORKERS ENDORSE PLAN.

Wilson's Request for Views Gets Ready Response.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—President Wilson's solicitation of suggestions "from all men" as to their ideas of how to abridge the ever-increasing cleavage between capital and labor met with a ready response from leading business and professional men of New York. As a result of the traction strike and the industrial tie-up threatened by labor leaders for tomorrow interest in the president's desire for a solution of the whole problem confronting employers and employes is particularly intense here. Following are the suggestions of some of the leaders in the business world.

Nathaniel Godding of J. M. Godding and Company:

"It seems to me that legislation is the solution of the difficulty. Let us have laws enacted that will compel employers and employes to arbitrate their differences."

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbus University:

"In most cases it is simply a question as to whether men who are at work and prefer their present form of organization and their relation to their work shall be compelled to change both of those, whether they wish to or not. To propose what is called a sympathetic strike under such circumstances is to declare war on the public."

H. A. Saks, of Saks and Company:

"The public is getting tired of being ground between two millstones. The problem should be given careful study, and then laws should be enacted as would prevent future recurrences of any situation as now confronts New York City."

Henry R. Towne, chairman of Yale and Towne Manufacturing company and former president of the Merchants' association:

"There should be legislation providing for a contractual relationship between public service corporations and each employe, prescribing an enlistment and enrollment for a stated term, with penalties on both sides for violation but recognizing the right of employes to organize, demand wages, require arbitration, but not the right to interrupt public service."

GOMPERS BEHIND STRIKERS.

Says A. F. of L. Cannot Allow "Surrender" of Laboring Men.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The general strike called to take effect in Greater New York tomorrow, to aid the strike of New York street carmen may become a national problem, according to labor leaders in Washington. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has been in close touch with the New York strike situation said today that it was impossible to determine what the future might bring out of the struggle.

President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and other officials of the federation are constantly in touch with the leaders of the New York strike by long distance telephone. They are prepared to go to all possible lengths to aid the New York labor leaders in their fight.

"Necessarily," said President Gompers today, "I must stand behind these men in New York to the fullest extent of my power and authority. We cannot allow any group of laboring men to surrender their right to organize, this right cannot be abandoned, even voluntarily, and the federation of labor is prepared to fight to maintain the right.

"Have the federal authorities made any movement toward a settlement of the New York strike, or have they been invited to interfere?" President Gompers was asked.

"There is no way at present that the federal authorities could become involved in the situation," he replied. "So far the strike problem is purely a local one and neither President Wilson or the department of labor would have any authority to interfere."

"Is there any expectation that the strike will spead beyond New York and became a national question?" the labor leader was asked.

"That is possible, of course," he replied, "but no one can tell, at this time what the future will bring forth. That question, with many others, will depend upon the developments in New York as the strike progresses. We can only say now that we will stand behind the New York organizations to the full extent of our power."

Officials of the department of labor, while admitting that they viewed the New York situation with apprehension, and feared that the trouble might spread, agreed with Gompers that there was nothing that the federal government could do to halt it at this time. They pointed out that neither side to the controversy had invited the federal authorities to attempt a settlement and that the department rarely intervened in labor disputes without an invitation from one of the parties to the trouble. It was admitted, however, that if the labor trouble continue to spread, and become a national problem, President Wilson undoubtedly will ask the department to step in to avert disastrous consequences.

COUNTY FAIR OPENS WITH MOTOR RACES

The big Allen county fair opened in fine shape today at the grounds east of the city. In every department the entries are large and the quality of the articles shown are away above those of former years. The concessions, too, this year, are higher in quality.

The automobile races attracted many people to the grounds this afternoon. The past officers' association held their meeting and luncheon at noon, with a program and greetings.

Tomorrow hundreds of people will attend. The fair promises to be the best in years. The educational department is one of the big features of this year's meeting.

COLLEGE INSPECTOR NAMED.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 26.—C. E. Oliver of East Palestine, Columbiana county, today was appointed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Pearson as an inspector of colleges and secondary schools. This appointment is in conformity with a modified plan. Heretofore, Ohio State university has been appointing two inspectors. From now on, the university is to appoint one inspector and the state superintendent one.

ROWLANDS FEATURES IN LARGEST DISPLAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Beautiful, Artistic and Original is Expression Heard at Rowlands' Booth.

Patrons of the Allen County Fair were agreeably surprised today to again see the Rowlands Furniture Store's display in the Art's Hall after an absence of several years. The hall has hardly looked natural during their absence for they are known among the citizens of Lima and the countryside as Lima's old reliable furniture dealers and had contributed greatly in making this portion of the annual event a huge success. Money, pains and labor have been lavished this year in making it undoubtedly the finest display they have ever attempted and to hear the expressions of the hundreds of visitors, it is the best in the hall.

Electrical skill, artistic genius and merchandise of merit are all combined to brand a picture in to the minds of the spectators that will never be forgotten. The first impression received is the immensity of the booth occupied by this progressive firm as over one-half of the entire south side of the hall is thrown into one room which is sub-divided into smaller rooms representing the kitchen, music, living and dining rooms. The kitchen offers an elegant display of kitchen cabinets, tables, chairs and in fact everything that goes to make a kitchen the most convenient and sanitary room in the house. The housewives look longingly at the cabinets that they know will save them thousands of steps and a great deal of labor every day.

One room is devoted exclusively to stoves, including gas heaters, ranges, base burners and in fact a stove for every purpose and by the world's best stove makers. The most homey room of the entire lot, of course, is the living room, with its large roomy rockers and davenports. Victrolas complete the happy appearance of the one room everyone must enjoy. A full line of Franz Premier Vacuum Sweepers occupy a prominent part of the display and are attracting a large portio nof the interest.

The electrical effects are beautiful being used on the back wall as arches in the varied colored globes. At the one end is an electrical flag that arouses a patriotic feeling in the breasts of everyone.

Carl Rowlands is there giving away dollars—can you imagine it—only they are Mexican dollars recently purchased in that country which have depreciated to a very low amount.

There will be something of unusual interest to all the ladies next Friday at the Rowland's booth at 2 o'clock.

TRUE "GLUES" AFTER COMPENSATION LAW

Foes of Workmen's Measure Backed by Insurance Companies.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—Officials at democratic state headquarters today claimed that the reorganization effected by the True Democracy league here late yesterday includes persons who are fighting workmen's compensation. These officials also charged that money will be liberally supplied to this organization by liability insurance interests. A. E. Crawford of Adams county is president and John Van Fleet of Kenton secretary of the organization which will oppose the re-election of former Governor Cox. Albert Holloway, of Akron, Ben J. McKinney of Marietta, and committee are members of the organization.

ALLIES SMASH WAY INTO COMBLES

including the villages of Les Bouens, Morval and Fregicourt.

Combles, one of the three principal German bases on the Somme has been virtually abandoned by the army of the Bavarian crown prince.

In admitting officially the conquest by the allies of the villages on the Guedecourt-Bouchavesnes lines, the German war office prepared the public for the loss of Combles. The official admission of the latest reverse on the Somme is coupled with glowing praise by the kaiser's war office with the "heroic troops" who, it is pointed out, are battling against the combined picked forces of the French and British armies and the "while world's war industry, prepared during many months."

PARIS, Sept. 26.—French troops have penetrated Combles, one of the three main objectives of the allies on the Somme front.

Fregicourt, one mile east of Combles, has been captured. These successes for the French were announced in the official communique of the French war office today.

Rushing forward in powreful night attacksafter a strong bombardment of the Germanpositions, the French occupied both Combles cemetery and the outskirts of the town.

There was furious fighting over the graves and amidst the tombstones when the Germans tried to stem the French advance in a cemetery near Combles. The Germans have launced counter attacks near Bapaume in an effort to alleviate the pressure around Combles, but all were repulsed, the war office states.

Combles lies in a hollow, surrounded by hills which rise to a height of about 500 feet.

NEW RAID ON LONDON.

Thirty-Six Killed, Twenty-Seven Injured by Zeppelins.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Seventy-four persons were killed and 152 wounded in the Zeppelin raids over England on Saturday and Monday nights, according to a revised casualty list issued by the war office this afternoon. The damage was slight.

The Zeppelins brought down during the first raid were the L-32 and L-33, one being shot down by an aviator and the other by high angle fire. Both were of the latest and biggest type.

Thirty-eight were killed and 125 injured in Saturday's raid and 36 were killed and 27 hurt in the second raid.

RUSSO-FRENCH ADVANCING

Bulgarians Unable to Stem March in Macedonia.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Efforts of the Bulgarians to check the advance of the Russo-French forces in Western Greek Macedonia have been frustrated. The French war office in a communique on Balkan operations announced today that the French, with great valor, successfully resisted the most violent attacks by Bulgarians east of Florina. North of Urmenko French and Russian soldiers engaged the Bulgarians in battle.

The text of the communique follows:

North of the Somme our troops arrived in the outskirts of Fregicourt and captured all of the village.

"During the night our advanced detachments penetrated the cemetery of Combles, while other reconnoitering troops reached the southern outskirts of this village. One detachment captured a trench southwest of Combles, making prisoners of a German company.

"At other points of the front our troops organized their newly won positions.

"The enemy strongly resisted on our right wing where he launched counter attacks late last night against our new trenches between the Bethune road and the Somme. These counter attacks were repulsed by our fire.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) the Germans yesterday launched a violent attack between the Thiaumont field work and Fleury. It was checked by our barrage and machine gun fire, inflicting serious losses on the enemy.

"Aviation—Yesterday our aviators fought 47 aerial combats on the Somme front. Five enemy machines were shot down and three others were seriously damaged and forced to descend. Another machine, damaged by a machine gun, lost control and descended suddenly but it could not be observed reaching the ground.

"In the course of these combats sub-Lieutenant Heurtaux brought down his eighth machine; Adjutant Dorme his twelfth and Adjutant Lenoire attacked an enemy triplane and after a very bitter combat brought it down, making the eleventh machine to be brought down by this pilot.

"During the night of September 24, two hundred bombs were thrown on the furnaces at Dillingen, the works at Sarre Louis, the railroad station at Metz-Sablons. Twenty-two bombs were dropped on Rombach and on the Metz-Thionville railroad. On the evening of September 25, four of our aviators threw eighty-two bombs on enemy organizations at Sailly-Saillesel and the St. Vaast wood. In the afternoon of the same day 30 projectiles were thrown on enemy bivouacs in the region of Montfaucon and Nantillois and 12 on the military establishments near Azannes. During the night of September 25 our aviators threw 102 bombs on the railroad station and barracks of Buiscard as well as on the railroad station of Noyon. Fifty-two bombs were dropped on the aviation camp at Harvilly and the railroad stations of Ham, Fins and Voyennes. On the afternoon of September 25 enemy aviators threw two bombs on the sand dunes northeast of Calais. No result was achieved."

REVOLT IS SPREADING.

Greek Revolutionists Win Over Commander of Corfu.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Greek revolution has extended to the Island of Corfu. An Athens despatch to the Exchange Telegraph today stated that General Soannon, commander of the Greek garrison at Corfu, capital of the island, has gone to Saloniki to join the revolutionists.

A complete political upheaval in Greece in elimination of King Constantine's authority is one of the predicted results of the forthcoming visit of M. Venizelos to London.

M. Venizelos, who is a former premie rof Greece and leader of the proally party, has gone from Athens to Crete, where he probably will head the provisional government as was reported in despatches to the International News Service on Monday.

If King Constantine fails to accept the services of the revolutionary army when they are tendered to him in a proclamation which Venizelos is preparing, decisive events are expected to follow at once.

There are strong indications that the ex-premier has the support of the entente powers in any action he may contemplate to fulfill the Greek national aims through the entry of that country in the war.

Should Venizelos, with the consent of the allies, be elevated to national power in Greece, King Constantine and his family likely will retire to Germany.

AIR ACTIVITY GREATER.

Both Sides Reinforce Aerial Fleets to Maximum.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—With the sky fleets of the allies and Germans reinforced to maximum strength, air activity over the western front is growing to a point where it rivals the violence of the fighting on land. American aviators fighting with the allies are taking a prominent part in it.

Within 48 hours of aerial fighting 52 aeroplanes were destroyed, 28 German and 24 allies machines, according to the claims of London, Paris and Berlin. The combats are continuing, the aviators being aided by favorable weather.

Twenty-nine-combats were reported from the Somme front in one day, the greatest number of air actions ever recorded in a single instance over any one section of the western battlefield.

The Germans are using Zeppelins as well as aeroplanes, while the allies are varying their activities with raids over German cities, Essen, the seat of theg reat Krupp gun works, being bombarded.

CHARGES HERRICK SOLD AMMUNITION WHEN AMBASSADOR

Private Profit Reaped During Public Career, Says Democrat Writer.

Candidate Accused of Using Office to Land Big War Contracts.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 26.—That the people of the United States have a right to inquire whether Myron T Herrick, republican candidate for United States senator from Ohio, brought back war orders when he was superceded as ambassador to France, or whether he secured them directly or indirecly by virtue of connections he made while a peace envoy in a warring land, is the claim made by Charles Morris, head of the publicity bureau at democratic state headquarters, in an open letter today to Charles E. Hughes, republican presidential candidate.

Morris told Hughes that on October 10, 1914, the Gaston, Williams & Wigmore company was organized with an original capital of $1,000 and that within a year increased to $5,000,000. Its total export business was quoted at $50,000,000 and profits were estimated at $5,000,000, according to Morris. The company soon announced an order of $12,000,000 worth of contracts from the allied powers for whom it had already placed millions of dollars' worth of war orders, declared Morris. More recently, he said, the firm announced that it secured the exclusive foreign agency of a manufacturing company whic his said to have taken orders for more than $100,000,000 worth of rifles for the allied powers. Most of the business is said to have been handled through French cannels.

J A Wigmore is said to have been associated with Herrick in business before going to New York. Wigmore, it is claimed, was introducsd to William W. Williams, in New York by Herrick "The growth of the company—placing contracts for the allied powers—began simultaneously with the return of Herrick from Europe," said Morris. "In Cleveland, the home of Herrick, many manufacturers appeared seeking orders for such supplies as armies need. No secret was made of whom they desired to see" Morris ssid the firm now has agencies in London, Paris and Petrograd.

According to Morris, an issue of $60,000 000 worth of Anglo-French war bonds was recently offered in Ohio from the Bonbright-Herrick Co, in which Parmaley Herrick, only son of the former ambassador, is said to be a director.

"Had you been president and had you known, or suspected, an ambassador to be using his post for commercial advancement, would you have permitted yourself to 'supercede' him?" asked Morris. "What would you have done, Mr. Hughes?"

POPULAR DIRECTOR LEAVING Y.M.C.A.

H. M. Rooney. Boys' Work Supervisor, Goes to Brooklyn.

H M Rooney, who has been boys' work director of the Lima Young Men's Christian association since September 1, 1915, has tendered his resignation, to take effect October 1 Rooney has accepted the proposition to take up the boys work at Prospect Park branch Y M C A Brooklyn

Rooney came here a year ago from Stamford, Conn, and has proved himself to be an able secretary for boys and a keen student of their problems and has done much good work in Lima. He has been interested not only in the boys' division of the association, but in all phases of association work and has taken an active part in the work of the churches and Sunday schools and in community boy problems He cooperated in playground work with the day schools and was an officer in the county Sunday school union

E. M. Rooney.

Rooney's resignatin will be met with regret by the Association officials who say it will be difficult to find a man to take up his work as efficiently as he has managed it, particularly at this season of the year The boys of the association and of the entire city are losing a warm friend and a fine leader, and he will be missed among the boys of the high school especially as he has been very popular with them.

SMOKE RINGS

If the Dayton address of Charles Evans Hughes, the opening gun of the Ohio Republicans in their campaign to elect $50,000 Herrick, $0.30 Willis and an electoral delegation favorable to Charles Evasive Hughes, is to be taken as typical of the work of that candidate on the stump the Republican national committee might as well put a dummy on the tour equipped with internal mechanism for blowing smoke rings. The policy of ... is typical of what His ... Whiskers has done in the two months of the campaign and there does not appear to be any indication of a change for the better.

As far as saying anything is concerned Hughes is still silent. He is talking a lot to be sure but his remarks are made up of meaningless platitudes, ambiguous promises, vituperative personalities and worse than useless efforts to carry water on both shoulders.

Where does this ... rambling ... campaigner stand? What are his ideas on foreign policy, Mexico, rural credits, federal reserve, child labor or any of the scores of good works passed by President Wilson? In other words what would Hughes do if elected to the presidency?

You do not know, neither do we. Hughes hasn't said and his record is ... All we know about his attitude on public questions is that he is strong for the old fashioned ... tariff, ... in his opposition to the ... hour day, strong for ... in the states where women vote ... swung to the G. O. P. ... in with the Wall street gang that runs his campaign ... but as ... definite speech ... ation of principle ... still ... with a statement ... what Wilson has done ... Of the former ... we have no such knowledge. And until he hands it out the nation will ... rather reticent about voting for him.

SUGAR SPOONS

Did you ever ... that ... the restaurants and lunch counters in Lima were equipped with spoons for the sugar bowls? Did you ever stop to think how unsanitary that omission is?

You drop in for something to eat, and order coffee on the side. For lack of a sugar spoon you use the teaspoon furnished by George behind the counter. After trying a few tastes with the spoon you decide to get more sugar, and use the teaspoon which has been in your mouth, sticking it into the sugar bowl.

Maybe you don't do that but hundreds of others do. And when you think that the sugar you use may have been against the spoon fresh from the mouth of some man with a half a dozen diseases the taste will not be so sweet.

Some restaurants have automatic devices for pouring the sugar out of cans, but where the old-fashioned sugar bowl is used, standing uncovered to invite the flies, it might be well to call for a sugar spoon and go deep for the sweetening. Sanitation pays.

THE SENATORSHIP

That Myron Timothy Herrick, Republican candidate for the United States senatorship, profited while ambassador to France by interest in a munitions plant selling supplies to the French army, is the latest charge to enter the state campaign. An open letter to Charles E. Hughes published by Charles E. Morris of the Democratic state publicity bureau at Columbus, infers that the Cleveland millionaire had a hand in the munificent profits of a Cleveland company.

Wouldn't Ohio command a lot of respect at Washington if represented in the senate by "deference-and devotion Harding" who used to jump when Boss Cox of Cincinnati pulled the string and "$50,000" Herrick who jumped with equal celerity when Boss Hanna of Cleveland pulled the string.

A vote for Atlee Pomerene is a vote for a fearless statesman who has never ... political manipulators, has never spent ... to buy offices, who has voted for all of the progressive legislation of the Wilson administration and ... A vote for Herrick is ... in O. K. ... which ... Mother ... propriety to separate public service and private profit and whose nomination for the governorship was the culmination of ... Harding ... should never be chosen to represent the great state of Ohio.

The vote of seventy Republican house members for the Democratic eight hour bill provides that the attitude of Hughes and the Penrose-Gallinger-Smoot contingent in the senate ... and that Wilson ... right.

... President Wilson for his "notes" ... deliberately ... have saved many human lives.

The New York Tribune is in hard lines. It cannot support Whitman for reelection ... and ... support Hughes ...

... 11,000 feet ... Mr. Hughes ... vision ...

Would the Republicans ... central bank for the banking system that the Democratic administration has ... They have ...

Leadership

... of every ... leader of the people is the task of convincing his fellow citizens that the man who regards himself as of a class apart ... to the progress of mankind ... that where there are classes in point of privilege there is no righteousness, there is no justice, there is no fair play, and that to lift the masses, to safeguard those who are lodged upon ... set forward the hopes of those who are merely beginning to go on in the great enterprise of life, is to help those at the top just as much as those at the bottom. No man's heart is right unless he feels it deep upon the same level with all other hearts in God's world.—At Madison Square Garden, October 31, 1912.

Justice and Humanity

Senator Harding was saying just now that we ought to try when we are 100,000,000 strong to act in the same simplicity of principle that our forefathers acted when we were 3,000,000 strong. I heard somebody say—I do not know the exact statistics—that the present population of the United States is 100,000,000. If there are 3,000,000 thinking the same things that that original 3,000,000 thought, the 100,000,000 will be saved for an illustrious future. They were ready to stake everything for an idea, and that idea was not expediency, but justice. And the infinite difficulty of public affairs is not to discover the signs of the heavens and the direction of the wind, but to square the things you do by the not simple, but complicated, standards of justice. Justice has nothing to do with expediency. Justice has nothing to do with any temporary standard whatever. It is rooted and grounded in the fundamental instincts of humanity.—At Gridiron Club dinner, Washington, February 2, 1915.

Legal and Real Persons.

In order to make our statutes effective we can transform our corporations from mere legal persons into real persons; analyze them into the men who actually conduct them, the men who actually originate and take part in the transactions which we forbid by law. Stripping them of disguise and hiding-place and subterfuge, we can deal with them as law has always dealt with individuals, and shall again live in a tonic air in which every man must stand naked in the form of public judgment.—At Washington, January 8, 1912.

Epigrams.

When I was a college officer I used to be very much opposed to hazing, not because hazing is not wholesome, but because sophomores are poor judges.

It is astonishingly easy to prove that something is wrong which nobody has proposed.

You can trust the people provided you serve them. Reveal everything and the people will be just, conceal anything and make them jealous.

An egotist is a man who has got the whole perspective of life wrong. He conceives himself as the center of affairs.

SENT TO FEDERAL PRISON.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 26.—Frank G. Beck, of Bridgeport, O., who was found guilty of making fraudulent returns in a bankruptcy case, and Carl D. Forsythe, of Wheeling, his attorney, who was convicted of complicity in the case, were each sentenced to 14 months imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., by Judge Sater in Federal court.

TRAVELETTE

BY NIKSAH.

BUDAPEST

Budapest is alive with the spirit of Hungary, a city with a personality like the crack of a whip and the soul of an energetic barbarian. The trolley-cars run at a speed that would startle Philadelphia, the cabs seem continually to be trying to catch departing trains. The food burns the mouth and the music is a torment with its elusive beauty always just about to round itself out and fulfill and never quite succeeding—perhaps never caring to succeed.

In the music, in fact, you can hear the voice of Hungary speaking as clearly as the still small voice after the storm—only this voice is neither small nor still. No people put a tithe as much of themselves into their music as the Hungarians. The bands and orchestras are made up entirely of gypsies, but gypsies are the mouthpiece of the populace. A Hungarian turns to music to express himself as naturally as an Englishman writes letters to the Times.

The music of the gypsies is a perpetual miracle, re-enacted each time some chubby brown boy of our struggles with his father's violin until he is capable of pouring out his dark Oriental soul through it. A music teacher in a gypsy community is just as essential as a swimming teacher in a flock of Pekin ducks.

A gypsy orchestra plays by ear, with swayings and contortions of the body that would be absurd did they not respond so perfectly to every changing shade of emotion in the harmony. The leader stands before his men directing them apparently by personal magnatism. He changes his tempo and his key as the fancy strikes him, but he can no more lose that orchestra than a donkey can lose a burr in his tail.

The playing shows of course that the players are untaught in the ways of the schools. The second fiddle is just as likely to press his instrument against his chest as stoutest fiddle against his chin, the pizzicato passages when the strings are plucked ... the roots instead of bowed are hard on the ... The player jerks as though he would tear the melody out ... the restraint that accompanies sophisticated artistry. But the soul of music is there as it is in the soul ... There is no scrap of ... Hungary.

GASOLINE STOVE IS DANGEROUS; VAPOR HIGHLY EXPLOSIVE

Many Mothers Are Burned Alive With Their Children

How to Manage Most Dangerous Appliance Common in Homes.

(By Bert B. Buckley, State Fire Marshal.).

The gasoline stove is a joy to mothers, but it burns many of them to death, and their children, too.

Gasoline left in the open gives off 130 times its bulk of vapor, which makes 12 times its bulk of air an explosive gas which will ignite from a blaze, a spark or a glowing coal. Nothing permitted in the home is half so dangerous—nor a tenth.

In Ohio, every year, carelessness in using the gasoline in these stoves sets fire to more than 150 houses, scars more than 200 persons with burns and roasts to death at least thirty. A new stove is safe if care is used in filling it and in turning the valves which shut off the supply of gasoline to the burners.

Three-fourths of the explosions occur while the tank is being filled.

Prohibited Acts.

Don't fill the tank which stands above the stove while a burner is lighted Vapor of gasoline is heavier than air and will fall to the blaze Then a flash will frighten the one who is pouring it, more gasoline will be spilled and the room filled with flames.

Don't fill the tank quite full Gasoline when it gets warm swells much more than water does, and is likely to open a seam in the tank

Don't fail to turn the burners shut before filling the tank. Fluid leaking through them will make a vapor which will explode when a match is scratched to light the stove.

Don't allow an excess of fluid to flow into the burner, or fail to close it well when done using the stove.

Don't keep the gasoline can in the kitchen It is not safe to have it any where in the house, but the worst place for it is the kitchen

Don't pour gasoline from one vessel into another in a room in which there is a fire or light, for the vapor of gasoline, which cannot be seen, will be drawn to any fire, lamp, candle or gas jet that is near

Better Watch Out.

Don't fail to watch closely for leaks in the tank or burner. Gasoline being more thinner than water, will leak through a smaller hole. If the hole through which gasoline is leaking is small, one cannot tell that there is a leak for it does not fall and make a wet spot It becomes vapor as fast as it comes through.

Don't slop gasoline about; it is more dangerous than gunpowder.

Don't keep gasoline in a jug or in a can which holds more than two gallons. It is so thin that one cannot pour it from a large mouth without spilling it

Don't leave a gasoline can or stove tank open Currents of air draw out vapor from an open can and vapor from a tank falls to the burners, which explode it

The Kinds of Stoves.

It is not safe to fill a tank over a stove if it has just been put out A lady, while filling a tank, splashed some of the fluid so it struck a hot burner There was a flash which frightened her so that she set the two gallon can on the hot stove and ran screaming for help and the house burned down

A stove whose tank can be filled while the burners are alight is unfit for human society

In one desirable stove the tank must be taken off to be filled Another stove has a hinge in its feed pipe and a lip of tin keeps one from filling it until it is turned down lower than the burners. This puts the fire out or the burners by stopping the fluid flowing to them

The tank of every gasoline stove should be placed on the outside of the wall of the building so the heat from the stove cannot burst it and vapor from a leak would be carried away.

The stove should be fastened to the floor so that it cannot be moved against wood that it might ignite The small stove must not be set on a box, a shelf or a barrel-head All gasoline stoves should have the bot- gasoline stoves should have the bot- things easy to burn cannot get into them

The main burner grates should be as much as two feet above the floor

MILITARY SPIES.

One of the ingenious ideas of modern war strategy is to utilize artist skill in making a drawing of a fortification without betraying its purport on thes urface. The spy makes a drawing which appears to be an ordinary landscape If caught with it he might pose with comparative safety as an artist who had been sketching for pleasure and was entirely ignorant of the existence of any fort and its surroundings. Interpreted according to secret code, however, the picture reveals to the spys government a fairly complete plan of a fort. This is indicated by the character and position of details One kind of tree represents an armored gun turet A bush of trees are gun positions, a couple of gates are entrances to the fort, a piece of fencing is a barbed wire entanglement, lines of bushes are ditches, and so on.—Kansas City Star.

AMERICAN SARDINES IN GREAT DEMAND

Eastport Factories, Unable to Get Enough Workers, Call for Help.

EASTPORT, Me., Sept. 26.—The busiest place in eastern Maine is Eastport Twelve sardine factories there are running on full time Herrings are so plentiful in Canadian waters, a few miles down the bay that the dominion weirmen were obliged this week to drop their prices of $10 and $12 a hogshead to $5 a hogshead, which may continue to the end of the canning season—December 1

There is a shortage of general laborers, so that many of the sardine canners have sent a call for men for factory work at good wages. There are no labor unions to join, and inexperienced general laborers are taken at once The sardine canners had had an advance on sardines from $2 85 a case of 100 cans to $3, with indications of an extra 25 to 35 cents before another week, as the foreign pack is light and Maine coast pack will be smaller than usual

It is stated that not more than 3,000,000 cases of sardines will be put up this season, from April 15 to December 1, which will be nearly 500,000 cases less and there are more demands for American sardines at present than can be filled at present prices

The boatmen who bring the fish from the Canadian weirs to the eastern Maine factories receive $2 a hogshead for all they can carry making two and three trips a week with from twenty to thirty-five hogsheads every load

The average weekly payroll in the Eastport factories is about $25,000, which does not include the many thousands of dollars paid out to the Canadian weir owners and boatmen engaged in the industry

A MEDICINE OF MERIT.

The great sale of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all over this land is the result of genuine merit The reason is that this good old fashioned root and herb medicine actually helps those suffering from the ailments peculiar to women. If it did not, would not the women of America have found it out in 40 years, so that few of them would buy?

The New Series Franklin Car

Here is the solution for motorists of America of a difficult mechanical problem that is engaging the attention of some of the world's greatest engineers today. The method by which the Franklin Company has eliminated in the Series 9 Franklin 400 pounds from an already scientific-light-weight car is an achievement that is five years in advance of current engineering practice.

NOW that every informed motorist realizes how superfluous dead weight adds to expense, lessens safety and takes away from comfort, you are going to hear more about light-weight cars.

For 15 years, the principles of scientific-light-weight have been studied, developed and built into Franklin cars.

The achievement in weight elimination, marked by the New Series Franklin, is based on the knowledge of how to cut down the forces which wear out a car—not mere weight cutting.

Making the Franklin car resilient instead of rigid, is the reason for the Franklin always being the lightest car in its class—the cheapest to own and operate, the easiest, safest and most comfortable to run.

LET the man who is looking for an automobile which gives maximum service—and by maximum service we mean more comfort, more safety, more reliability and less cost of upkeep and depreciation—consider the facts:

The Franklin car holds the world's record for tire economy and gasoline economy.

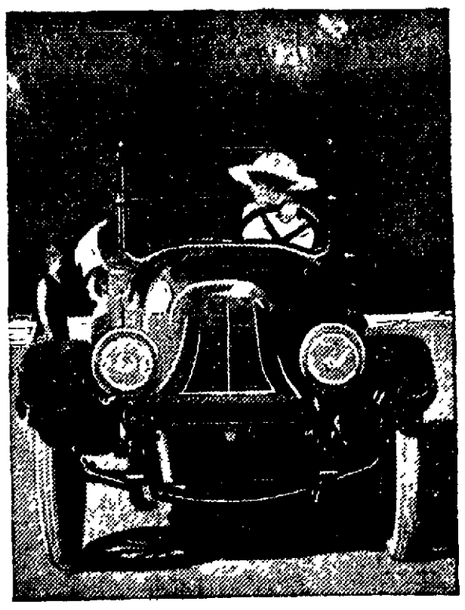

The New Series Franklin Car will deliver its owner 17 per cent. more tire economy and 20 per cent. more gasoline economy than the Franklin cars which established these world's records.

The Franklin car is acknowledged to be the easiest riding car in the world.

The New Series Franklin Car is a smoother rolling, easier riding, easier controlled car than any of its predecessors.

HERE in the New Series Franklin is a full-size five-passenger car weighing only 2280 pounds.

How has it been done? Note the aluminum in body, mudguards, engine base, oil pan, transmission case and cover, rear axle gear case—150 aluminum parts in all.

In the transmission gears is electric furnace nickel steel; in springs and axle shafts, electric furnace chrome-silico-manganese steel; in axle tubes and universal joints, 3½ per cent. nickel steel.

You will be interested in seeing how a given amount of metal has been redistributed and a stronger part produced, or a less amount of metal used and a part equally strong produced.

The diminished weight—and particularly the diminished unsprung weight—means another increase in tire economy. Think of relieving the tires from direct pounding of unnecessary weight by making the front axle 30 per cent. lighter and the rear axle 25 per cent. lighter!

Then the reduction of friction! Ball bearings, the closest approach to frictionless mechanism, are used everywhere.

With all this weight saving and elimination of "drag" comes greater ability at less expense, more comfort, greater safety—a saving of trouble and dollars.

THE New Series Franklin incorporates all the established principles of Franklin construction: Six-cylinder direct-air-cooled engine; full-elliptic springs front and rear; wood chassis frame; flexible drive through the springs; large tires (cord type).

Built in eight types: Touring Car, $1850; Runabout, $1800; Four-passenger Roadster, $1850; Cabriolet, $2650; Sedan, $2750; Brougham, $2700; Limousine, $3000; Town Car, $3000.

An inspection of the car now on our salesroom floor will make these points plain. Driving it will open up a new conception of motoring pleasure.

IDLERS

IDLE HANDS and idle minds, what mischief they can do! In one hour of idle gossip they can tear down work that has taken a month, a year, a lifetime, to build. Satisfied with nothing, satisfying nothing, they idle and waste time without thought or reason, being incapable of doing either.

Idlers are the weakest spot in our civilization. I do not mean the vagabonds, or the dreamers, for they are busy in their way, with dreaming, or wandering over the face of the earth, harming no one but themselves. But are idlers who do not have to work because their finances are such that there is no need to waste the perspiration of their well groomed brows. Then there are others who should work but who prefer not to, so they take what there is giving nothing in return except a grateful wave of their manicured hand, or a pretty pout of their carmined lips. Of such are the idlers.

The first of these are easier to forgive than the last because theirs is not fault. Their money was thrust upon them along with no desire to make themselves useful. It's always the pity, however, that there isn't some instinct from the remote ancestor who dug ditches, that will make them be of use to their fellow man, than a delight to the eye.

For the last, those who choose an aimless existence through desire, there is no excuse. Entirely selfish, without happiness, egoists of their making, they live today to grow old tomorrow without having accomplished anything, with only a store of foolish memories that can never be repeated. Their day is bright, but dawns only once. Their wealth is gone, absolutely, minutes can never be regained. Always their excuse is, "We are young, and soon we will settle into more sedate ways." But a developed taste for the unusual, excitement, can seldom be satisfied after one passes the age when ambitions can be fulfilled.

This isn't a denunciation, it couldn't be, but it's just a little reminder that time flies, and no quicker for anyone than it does for the idler. If you are one, if you know one, if you think you would like to be one, take a good long time and think of the logical outcome.

Favors of Fashion

By CLARICE.

Paris has now begun her formal winter fashion opening, and one by one the houses of the well known artists show the prevailing modes. Simplicity seems to be the keynote to the styles, and yet it seems contradicted when one sees the gorgeous embroideries that are so much in favor. The ultimate conclusion would be that both are quite "right." It's more the case, and the taste, of the individual. There are many inovations, perhaps the best among them is the "robe-chemise" the height of simplicity, but which may be enriched with the beautiful gold and silver thread embroidery.

The "robe-chemise" promises to be the catch of the season, and it settles the fate of the tight-waisted, or hoop-hipped models, for the time being at least. Evening gowns, or those for more formal occasions, are, to be sure, designed in many cases on the lines of tapering waists and full hips, but the flat straight lines of the one-piece frock are more emphasized than ever in the new models shown at the various openings. This will undoubtedly be the silhouette of the coming winter for day wear. The hem of the skirt falls nearly to the instep, and, though full, its falls in heavy straight folds or plaits in a straight line from the hips, with no flare. The waists are loose and, in many cases, the line of joining the skirt part to the body part is at the hips and not at the waist. The result is an unbroken straight line from the shoulders to the hem of the skirt.

Embroidery is seen on all gowns, whether for day or evening wear; and beautiful laces are used extensively. Most striking are the colored nets, richly embroidered with silver and gold. Also lovely embroidery in Chinese patterns on chiffon, gold and silver being profusely used with the colors. Colors are much richer and the dyers appear to find no further difficulty in producing more brilliant shades than Paris has used for the past two years.

So much interest is shown in the tailor gown, that possibly the coat and skirt suit with separate blouse will find itself actually less in demand than ever before. But, of course, a real tailor suit will always be indispensible to every woman's wardrobe and plenty of charming new models have been prepared. The skirts of these are distinctly longer, and evidently the decree has gone forth that it will no more be smart to wear a skirt cut off at the boot tops. Coats are quite long and the lines of both coats and skirts tend to straightness rather than flare, while at the same time there is plenty of fulness. Wide enveloping collars are a feature of the coats.

Daily Fashion Hint

An attractive separate bodice is shown here developed in black chiffon and lace over flesh georgette crepe. The shawl collar and square cuffs are particularly good features. Especially notable is the fact that the sleeves are three quarter length. Small white satin binding gives a dainty finishing note.

Some Steps to Happiness

By Beatrice Fairfax

MOST OF US spend our lives in pursuit of happiness. But she is completely elusive, and when we think we have gained her, we always find that she lies somewhere beyond.

We all want superlative happiness and happiness is only comparative. We are happy as we give joy to others, fulfill our daily tasks, and work toward a goal of achievement.

Real happiness lies in "amounting to something" in this world. And amounting to something means doing our honest best with our own possibilities and helping other people realize theirs.

An old-time philosopher has suggested four steps to happiness. Here they are: Accept Your Limitations. Seize Your Opporunity. Enjoy the Good of the Hour. Improve the Bad, and if You Can't Let It Drop.

Let us examine these suggestions. "Accept Your Limitations" means be sane and logical about your possibilities. Don't exaggerate your talents and insist on flying when it is hard for you to do anything more than walk. In other words, take stock of yourself and make the best of what you are and have it in you to be. But don't refuse to sing well in the chorus just because you aren't able to be the prima donna.

"Seize Your Opportunity." That of course, means be awake and alert to whatever chance offers you and make the most of the tiniest opening through which it is possible to force your way to success.

"Enjoy the Good of the Hour." Be happy over little things and don't worry because they are not eternal. No sunset was ever less beautiful because it was foredoomed to fade and joy and beauty have almost an added charm because they are not permanent. Learn to find joy in little momentary blessings. So you get a happy tendency, a frame of mind that makes for cheer.

"Improve the Bad—and if you Can't Let it Drop." Don't sit idly by with folded hands and accept unpleasant circumstances. Do your best. But if you find that faith will not quite move mountains but only show you the way to toil over them, try to surmount them.

If footsore and weary you have to give up and retract your path, the cheerful about that too. Failure bravely accepted is a sort of success.

After all, these sign-posts to happiness only lead you on the path to peace. Peace of mind is the greatest happiness mortals can grasp and possess. It comes from the knowladge of duty well done, of work honestly performed, and of kindness and love given to others.

ALLIGATORS HER PETS.

Miss Amparito Farrar, sister of Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, and several other young women of her acquaintance have taken to little alligators as pets, and have begun to wear them on their shoulders and necks.

The alligators are of the horn-tail variety, striped in black and gold, 28 days old and nine inches in length. If carefully trained and handled they will not become vicious and their adopted mother has promised to treat them so that they will not misbehave. In Florida tiny alligators are often worn as ornaments by women, who fasten them to their gowns by gold chains.

CAN'T LOSE HAIR

Twenty Years from Today a Baldheaded Man Will be an Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said: "If the new hair grower, Mildredina Hair Remedy, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years.

"When Mildredina Hair Remedy is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a bald head will be a rarity." Sample sent for 10c to pay postage. Mail orders filled by Mildred Louise Co., Boston, Mass. For sale by Butlers' Drug Stores, and Thompson's Drug Store.

Social Notes

Ideal club members entertained at the home of Mrs. Louise Long of Brice avenue last evening with a dinner complimenting Mrs. Emma Klein who leaves next Sunday for Seattle, Wash., to make her home. A bowl of pink roses centered the dinner table, softly shaded candles and dainty place cards being used to give a pretty effect. After the dinner a musical program was given by Mrs. R. H Ebersole, Mrs. Walter Scott and Mrs. Charles Oliver. Mrs. C. R. Lingo gave several readings. A social evening was spent after the program, in which a beautiful gift was presented to Mrs. Klein in behalf of the club members, who regret very much the departure of Mrs. Klein. Miss Ida Ebersole and Mrs. Charles R. Lingo of Cincinnati were the only guests other than the club members. The next meeting of the club will be held Friday, October 6 at the home of Mrs. Clarence Atmur of West Wayne street.

DOMESTIC TROUBLES CAUSE OF MURDER

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 26.—A bloodstained metal rod, with a knob on the end, and a chair bearing bloodstains and the impression of a man's hand were being examined today for clews in the murder of Mrs Oscar D. McDaniel, of which her husband, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county, is accused. Detectives found them in the McDaniel home following the prosecutor's arrest. The rod is believed to be a part of an automobile windshield.

McDaniel arraigned before Justice J. C. Wilson and refused bond, issued a statement today in which he asserts his innocence and assails Bart M. Lockwood, special prosecutor, and detectives who have been working for him.

McDaniel's arrest, Lockwood says, follows revelations of strained domestic relations and the fact that Mrs. McDaniel is said to have made accusations which led to a quarrel between them shortly before she was found in their home with her head crushed on July 14.

HIRE SPECIAL TRAIN SO WEALTHY CHILDREN MAY AVOID EXPOSURE TO INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The wealthy, as well as the poor have their cares and worries. In fact Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wicks, when they decided to close their summer villa at Newport and move to their autumn home at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., were so worried because their children would have to pass through infantile paralysis infected New York, that they hired a special train for the youngsters at a cost of $650 to dodge the plague infested city.

Fanny, Marian and Kitty Wicks, with Ogden and Peter Goelet, the young sons of Robert Goelet, whom they invited for the trip, were the passengers on the train of three cars, which branched off the regular route at New Haven, Conn., and made the trip north, thus avoiding New York.

4 COMPANY C BOYS BACK FROM BORDER

Local Quartet Glad to Return From Region of Sand and Cactus.

The first Lima boys to receive their honorable discharge papers as members of Company C, which is encamped at El Paso encamped at El Paso, arrived in the city last night from the home depot at Columbus. The lads are Don Johns, company musician, Alva Galloway, Charles Galloway and "Babe" Nelson.

The four boys left El Paso, Texas, where the second regiment is encamped, last Friday afternoon at 4.45 and arrived in Lima last night at 9.15.

According to several members of the guard who returned home last night, the novelty of the country in which they are encamped has worn off, and practically all of the 1 are ready for the order which will send them back to Lima.

One of the most difficult problems that confront members of company C is how to get used to drilling in cactus. The returned members of the company describe this problem as an impossibility.

Although members of the local company have not been troubled much with sickness of body, all of them complain of being homesick and anxious to see home.

the financial rehabilitation of their country. One large banking group has left them no room to doubt that they will meet with no success there, but two other combinations have left them so small ground on which to base their hopes of success.

The American commission though, advised by men in touch with the financial situation, is positive that American bankers will not attempt to sell a Mexican loan. The only plan that would appeal to American bankers would be a positive guarantee by the United States of the projected Mexican bond issue.

Pending the arrival of a reply from General Carranza to the question put up to him yesterday by the Mexican representatives, asking whether the "first chief" insists that the withdrawal of American troops be disposed of before other questions are considered by the Mexican representatives, both commissions are practically at a standstill. The meetings here will adjourn Thursday to meet Monday at Atlantic City.

LANSING DENIES REPORT.

Says Villa Was Not Present at Raid on Chihuahua.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Secretary Lansing today flatly contradicted the official report of General George Bell, Jr., that Villa was present at the raid on Chihuahua City, September 16, that Carranza soldiers deserted to him and that great quantities of munitions were captured. An official announcement by Secretary Lansing stated that the state department's information conforms to the facts as presented by the Mexican government that Villa was not in Chihuahua and that there were no desertions.

Secretary Lansing announced:

"Confidential advices from Chihuahua City seem to bear out the statement of Mr. Arredondo (Mexican ambassador designate) that Villa was not present in the recent raid on Chihuahua City, that the raiders took away no arms nor ammunition, and that there were no desertions from the Carranzista forces."

WATER MAIN BREAKS NEAR GRAND CENTRAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A 24-inch city water main above the New York end of the Steinway Tube at Vanderbilt avenue and Forty-second street burst early today, causing serious congestion of traffic for hours. The elevator shaft used by passengers was flooded. The police stopped traffic on Forty-second street from Lexington to Madison avenues.

FORMER LIMA MAN DIES IN MINISTREY

Rev. J. Franklin Straight, Once Local Undertaker, Buried Today.

The Rev. J. Franklin Straight, until a short time ago pastor of the Christian church at Phillipsburg, Ohio, died Sunday morning at his home in that place. He was for some months engaged in the undertaking business in Lima and was located in the brick residence on North Elizabeth street, now used by the Lima Locomotive employes for their club house.

He was born April 23, 1859, on a farm near Ansonia and at the age of 15 years united with the Christian church. At 19 he began preaching. For 12 years he was engaged in ministerial work and for 20 years as an undertaker or salesman for that line of goods.

During the meetings conducted by the Rev. William A. Sunday, in Lima, he was a member of the chorus choir and the call to return to active ministerial work was heeded and entered into with even greater greater zeal A wife, two brothers and two step-daughters are left.

Funeral services were held this morning at the Christian church in Phillipsburg, where he served as pastor. The Rev. Pressley E. Zartmann, pastor, was in charge. The sermon was by the Rev. J. F. Burnett, of Dayton. Burial was at Willow View cemetery, north of Dayton.

PLEADS GUILTY TO HIGHWAY ROBBERY

Minneapolis Man Implicates Partner in Hold-up of Drunken Man.

Fred Minton, Cincinnati, and Sidney Scobie, Minneapolis, arrested last night by Patrolman Saylor on the charge of highway robbery, were arraigned in criminal court this morning and pleaded guilty. They were bound over to the grand jury under a $300 bond

According to authorities, Joe Sharkey, who was intoxicated, was waiting for a north bound train at the C, H & D railroad. The two men induced him to go to the rear of the station, where they hit him on the head and took his suit case, watch and $7 from him.

They were arrested at the corner of Wayne street and Central avenue, by Officer Wallace. Later in the evening Sharkey was picked up for intoxication and when shown the goods identified them. Scobie confessed to the theft, stating that Minton had assisted.

TWO ABANDONMENT CASES ARE PENDING

Albert J. Raabe Pleads Guilty When Arraigned Before Court.

Albert J. Raabe, arrested on Saturday night at Delphos, on an indictment charging abandonment of his minor children, pleaded guilty when arraigned in court this morning. He offered to furnish bond for the payment of his divorced wife money to take care of their children. The court ordered him to pay $80 by October 13 and then not fail to pay $20 a month. He agreed to this and was released from jail.

Raabe had re-married after the divorce. He neglected his payments. He is a railroad man. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Albert Eley and Marion Watt when he returned to Delphos for an over-Sunday visit.

Trial of Elmer Augsburger, indicted for abandonment of his wife, who was in a delicate condition, is set for October 19. Since the case was taken to court, Mrs. Augsburger has given birth to a child and Augsburger has been required to pay money for the support of the child, by the court.

ORPHEUM PROGRAM FULL OF VARIETY

An exceptionally good bill is on tap at the Orpheum theatre for the first part of the week. The program is well balanced and presents a variety of acts which will appear to the best critics.

Greta Von Bergen, as "The Athletic Girl," opens the performance. Her work is an example of the various ways in which physical exercise can be taken. The act is clean-cut and an education to those who need to build up their bodies.

One of the best acts on the bill is presented by Adolpho, who proves to be a high class accordion player. He plays classical music as well as the more popular airs.

The big hit of the program is the act presented by Jane Heston and Company. It is called the "Frivolty Girls." Miss Heston, who is capable of entertaining an audience by herself, is ably assisted by a cast of six. Singing, dancing and comedy reign.

"The National Four," which is next on the bill, proves to be one of the ever welcome quartettes. In addition to being good harmonizers, the four lads inject much mirth into their act. Lasere and Lasere close the bill with a high class contortionist exhibit.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

The second Lasky production of the week at the Faurot is "Each Pearl a Tear," with Fannie Ward in the stellar role. This photoplay has been written especially for Miss Ward by Beatrice C. DeMille and Leighton Osmun, who adapted the story from a novel by E. Lloyd Sheldon. It affords many glimpses of high society, its amusements and frivolities, into which is woven a dramatic plot of sensational interest. Miss Ward wears some wonderful gowns and displays a marvelous collection of jewels. Her support includes Jack Dean, Charles Clary, Paul Weigel, Jane Wolff and others of the Lasky company. The latter has given the play a superb staging and marvelous photography. This feature is accompanied by new Burton Holmes Travelpictures, "The Sunny South of England," and the latest edition of the Pathe News.

Dodgers Divide Bargain Bill With Chicago Cubs

BROOKLYN, Sept. 26.—Brooklyn managed to hold the lead in the National league pennant race yesterday by dividing a double header with Chicago. The visitors won the first 7 to 4 in ten innings. Brooklyn had the game apparently safe up to the seventh when Cheney's wildness let in two runs.

Brooklyn took the second 4 to 2 through Marquard's effective pitching. Errors behind him, allowed the visitors to tie the score in the eighth, but the locals came back with three hits, which, with a passed ball, gave them two runs and the game. Scores:

SIAMESE EARTH EATERS.

The Lastians of Siam, actually eat an denjoy earth. It has never been discovered where these peculiar people contracted this habit, though it is generally believed that it probably came about in the time of a famine, when there was nothing else to be had.

However, the habit has now got such a hold upon them that old and young, rich and poor alike, indulge freely in its consumption. It is preferred when it has been acquired from the vicinity of waters so that it carries with it a taste of fish. It is made into a pasty substance and smothered into the ground in a hot fire. It can be obtained at markets and at stores and is served at dinners and at big functions of any description. In some parts of the Mongo earth is sold in the shape of apples and oranges and is given out in various colors—yellow, brown, gray and even pink, which is looked upon as a very delectable luxury.

Quakers Cause Dodgers Trouble In Flag Fight

By Frank G. Menke.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Gaining ground at every step like the great Anglo-French drive against the German lines in France, the Phillies are over-hauling the Dodgers in the race for the National league pennant. Since Saturday Pat Moran's National league champions have cut down the Dodgers' lead from 2 1-2 games to one game. And the Quaker lads can go into the lead if they win today's game while the Dodgers lose again to the Cubs.

A week ago it looked as if the Dodgers had the bunting already to attach to the flagpole in Ebbets field. Today they are fighting with their back to the wall to ward off the flying Phillies who, with Alexander, Rixey and Demaree pitching the ball that chalks up games in the win column, are breezing along like a cyclone.

The Dodgers have two more games to play with the Cubs and then will begin the real crucial series of the season when they line up with the Phillies beginning Thursday. The result of these games may decide the pennant. The Phillies have one more game with the Reds, then they rest up a day before tackling the Dodgers. After that they play the Braves six games. Should they take a majority of games from the Dodgers they will finish their final series against a weaker club than the Dodgers, and have a better chance to land. The Dodgers will have to play four games with the Giants and McGraw's men are now playing the best ball in the league. They have established a new record of 21 straight wins.—21 games—surpassing the Providence record of 20 which had stood for 32 years.

And many fans in New York are sorry that the Giants are not closer to the lead. They believe they surely would come through.

Cleveland Loses To Red Hose.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—Boston made it three out of four yesterday by winning from Cleveland 2 to 0. Cleveland made as many hits as Boston, but could do nothing with Ruth with men on bases.

Scratch hits by Janvrin and Shorten, Hoblitzel's sacrifice and Lewis' sacrifice fly gave Boston one in the fourth, while Thomas' double and Ruth's single produced another in the fifth. A one-handed pick-up by Grdner that started a double play was the fielding feature.

St. Marys Will Play Third Game of Series Here

The third game of the series of contests between St. Marys and the Independents will be played at Murphy street park next Sunday afternoon. The winner of the game Sunday will obtain a firmer hold on the championship of Allen and Auglaize counties. So far the struggle between the two clubs stand with a credit of one apiece to each.

The St. Marys lads lost their first contest with the Lima boys, but in the second game they made use of a strengthened line-up with telling effect and won the game by a score of 8 to 6.

A marked improvement in the fielding and hitting of St. Marys was noted in the second game. According to a letter received from the manager of the St. Marys club, the latter was never in better shape to compete for the championship of northwestern Ohio, providing they are successful in taking the series from Lima.

Huenke, the old reliable of the St. Marys pitching staff will dish up his offerings to the local boys. He is without doubt one of the best semi-pro pitchers in this part of the state. Early in the season he was given a tryout with a Pennsylvania league team.

Carroll, premier twirler of the Independent pitching staff will be on the firing line for the club next Sunday. Although considered a hot weather pitcher, he states that he intends to fool fans by unlimbering and taking the game.

BOTH IN DANGER.

At a certain mill there is a notice on the elevator which reads as follows:

"No one allowed to use this elevator except the man in charge. Anyone doing so will be discharged."

One morning Billy ——, a rather witty fellow, was waiting to go up from the second room, when who should step off the elevator alone but the manager.

Billy was stepping on to go up when the manager turned around and said:

"I say, can't you read?"

"Yes," said Billy.

"Well, what does that notice say?" asked the manager.

"By gum, we'll both be sacked if we're catched."—Exchange.

WHAT

Can Public Ownership Do

WHICH HAS NOT ALREADY BEEN DONE FOR LIMA?

Before you join in a movement to wish a white elephant on the treasury, stop and consider the claims of those who urge municipal ownership of telephones.

Do they assert that the service will be better? No.

Do they claim that the rate will be lower? Yes, but at what cost will they be able to lower it if their scheme succeeds?

Municipal ownership of telephones in Lima, an experiment hitherto unattempted by other cities, will work out something like this:

1. Increased taxation.
2. Deterioration of the plant.
3. Injuring of the service.
4. Supplanting of engineering experts by political appointees, including fat jobs for friends of each new administration.
5. Cutting off of rural and long-distance lines, with
6. Subsequent establishment of rival company connecting with long-distance lines.
7. Abandonment at great loss, with
8. Either sale to rival or surrender to outsiders who buy mortgage bonds with franchise as security.
9. Solemn resolution: "Never again!"
10. Twenty years scramble to meet the taxes.
11. Real estate slump because of jump in tax rate.

MARKET ADVANCES AS EXCHANGE OPENS

By Charles W. Storm.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Outside buying orders at the opening of the stock exchange today caused advances of from one to over two points.

U. S. Steel common sold from 115½ to 116, against 115 at the close yesterday, and then sold up to 116⅝.

Railway shares were active and strong. Union Pacific sold from 148⅞ to 149, against 147⅝ at the close yesterday, and later sold up to 149¼. Reading started ⅞ higher at 113⅞ and rose to 114½. Chesapeake & Ohio gained 1⅝ to 67⅝, New York Central ¼ to 108⅞ and Southern Pacific ½ to 101½.

The copper issues were in demand and showed pronounced strength. Anaconda opened from 98¼ to 98, and jumped to 98⅞. Kennicott rose 1¾ to 56, and fractional advances were noted in many other copper shares, with the exception of Utah, which started at 95, a loss of 2½ points. There was good demand for many specialties and minor steel industrials. Republic Iron & Steel rose 3 points to 71, Railway Steel Spring 2 points to 52, and Colorado Fuel 2½ to 57. Texas company opened a point lower at 219½ and jumped to 222¼. Crucible Steel gained 2⅜ to 92⅝, Baldwin Locomotive a point to 87¼ and American Car & Foundry ¾ to 67½.

The motor stocks were prominent.

A disposition to take profits was in evidence in the late forenoon when vigorous losses were noted throughout the general list. Steel common dropped to 114⅝ against 116½, its early high range. American Smelting dropped from 115¾ to 113⅞, and Anaconda, after selling above 99, dropped to 97¾. Pressure was also noted in many of the leading industrials with Central Leather selling off from 73¾ to 71¼, Colorado Fuel from 57 to 56¼, and Republic Iron & Steel from 71 to 69¾. Sharp reactions after early advances were noted in many other issues, including Union Pacific, which declined to 148⅝.

Money loaning at 2¾ per cent.

Sales of stocks to noon were 885,200 shares; bonds, $2,598,000.

40,000,000 Army Is Prediction For Russia

PETROGRAD, Sept. 26.—That this war will be followed by a vaster one in which Russia will fight with an army of 40,000,000 men is the prediction of General Skugarowski, a Russian infantry commander now on the eastern front, in an article published by the Russkojo Slowo.

"It is impossible to predict now the outcome of the present war," writes General Skugarowski, "but nevertheless we can readily picture in our minds what the next war will be like.

"It will follow directly on the heels of the present conflict. How soon this new war will begin depends on how the present war will end and who will be the victors. If Germany is not thoroughly defeated another war will be likely within ten years. In the meantime every country will be busy preparing for it.

"That coming war will surpass the present in frightfulness; in fact, the present conflict will be like child's play compared with what can be expected in the next war.

"The question is, what kind of an army will Russia be able to put into the next war? According to the census of 1914, 17 out of every 100 inhabitants in Russia are men between 20 and 45. The experience of the present war has shown that boys of 17 and 19 are fit for service, also older men, between 46 and 50 years of age. Therefore, Russia can really put 25 men out of every 100 population in the field.

"But figuring on those who are ill or incapacitated in some way, we can conservatively figure 20 men out of every 100. In ten years the population of Russia will be 200,000,000, Germany's about 100,000,000. In Russia, therefore, an army of 40,000,000 men will be available and in Germany barely 20,000,000.

"For an army of 40,000,000 men at least 300,000 officers are required, and to provide for this all young men should be trained and schooled to become officers.

"In all schools and colleges military instructions should be included among the other studies. In this army of 40,000,000 there will be 30,000,000 infantry, 2,000,000 cavalry, 5,000,000 artillery and the remainder in engineer and special troops.

"The equipment will consist of 100,000 big guns, 1,000,000 machine guns and 10,000 automobile trucks and ammunition wagons.

"In time of peace Russia must have a standing army of from two to three million men. The preparations for the next war will be so tremendous in their scope that Russia will have to create a special ministry of preparation to handle the details."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about fou rounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, an dhas been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

His Sixteen Years' Suffering Now Ended

"I can say with the greatest of pleasure that Foley Kidney Pills were the only thing that gave me relief in sixteen years."

Mr. G. W. Henderson of Dingle, Miss., says more than that, too. He suffered with cystitis (inflammation of the bladder). It went on until he reached the point where he had dizzy, weak spells, and sometimes he would almost faint with pain. Of course, he doctored, went off to the mineral springs and drank waters of different kinds, which altogether cost him a large sum of money. Still no permanent relief. Now comes a friend who recommends Foley Kidney Pills, and after using half a dozen bottles, his pains are all gone, he sleeps soundly all night.

When kidney and bladder trouble comes on you and you suffer the pains and aches it causes, have irregular, painful secretions and a burning sensation, take Foley's Kidney Pills at once and you will echo Mr. Henderson's sentiments.

ALASKA MAY SOLVE PROBLEM OF PAPER SHORTAGE IN U. S.

Vast Stretches of Timberland Produce Plenty of Pulp Material.

Unexplored Sections Said to Have Many Untold Forest Areas.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—The high price of paper is one of the really important questions of the moment. Paper of all sorts is scarce and apparently getting scarcer. This is especially true of the paper that newspapers and the cheaper magazines are printed on, which has soared in a manner comparable to the sensational ascensions performed by the prices of dyes and chemicals. And paper today, especially news-print paper, is no luxury. It is a necessity of our daily life.

The briefest consideration shows what a part paper plays in the modern scheme of things. You are continually buying and using paper of one sort or another, from the time you get up and read a morning paper at breakfast to the time when you lay aside your book or magazine and go to sleep at night. The amount of paper that a big city consumes in a day is enormous. Raise the price of paper 50 or a 100 per cent, and a score of industries are vitally affected.

The price of paper has risen immensely since the European war began, due partly to higher costs of certain chemicals, but chiefly to the fact that trade with Norway and Sweden is disorganized, and from these countries we had been importing great quantities of wood pulp for paper manufacture. If we have not felt the effects of the situation to any great extent so far, it is because the men who use the paper in their business and pay the bills have been holding on and hoping for a return to normal conditions.

In the meantime, we are beginning to economize on paper in every possible way. More waste paper is being saved and sold to be used over again in manufacture than ever before. Advertisers have actually been asked to hold down the size of their advertisements in newspapers in order to use as little paper as possible in getting results. A congressional investigation into the price of paper has been held. Some of the less wealthy periodicals are appearing printed on paper of new and startling hue and surface. The situation is unprecedented in the history of the paper industry.

If all this is simply a result of war conditions, the general sentiment is that we shall just have to weather the stringency as best we can and be a little more careful of our paper. But it has been suggested that the present high prices are at least in part a result of increased demand as well as of the cutting off of foreign supplies. In which case the end of the war will not settle the question.

And this view, which has led us to take stock of our national resources, has drawn attention to the immense and little-known stretches of paper material in Alaska. Newsprint and similar papers are made from wood-pulp. It is the steady depletion of our timber lands that makes us dependent on foreign countries for any pulp stock at all. And in southeastern Alaska we have, on government land, as the property of the nation, one of the greatest supplies of raw material for paper making in the world.

It is only recently that any attention has been paid to these Alaskan national forests. Great stretches of them are still to be explored. But we know that they contain billions on billions of feet of virgin timber. Nature seems to have laid them out especially with a view to keeping the American public amply supplied with reading matter. They are distinctly what lumbermen know as a "pulp proposition." That is, they would naturally and normally be worked for paper rather than for lumber. The trees are large, often running up to six feet in diameter, but the quality of the wood is not the highest for building purposes. They are capable, however, of being worked into a paper equal to the best.

Norway has made of herself a large exporter of pulp and pulpwood. She has done this because her own natural resources are not of the most varied, and on looking them over she found that this particular industry was one for which nature had fitted her. She had great stretches of timber of the grade and species used in paper manufacture. She has large rivers plunging down the steep grades from the mountains to the coast within a few miles, and generating great power in their flow. Her deep fiords run far inland up the sunken valleys of these rivers, so that deep-sea vessels can load at the very mills. And Norway ships pulp wood not only to America, but through the Suez canal to India and China.

Now in our own southeastern Alaska territory we have these very conditions duplicated on a larger scale. There is the same juxtaposition of water power, timber, and deep fiords running far inland where steamers can load at the mill itself. The Alaskan forests are exceedingly dense and luxuriant. The rainfall is very heavy—twice as great as that of the eastern United States—and the result is a prodigal luxuriance of vegetation hard to reconcile with the popular idea of Alaska. The forests are choked with lush underbrush, carpeted with moss, and so shadowed by the roof of spruce and hemlock foliage that the light in them is a half-twilight at noon.

Through this forest run many streams, falling hundreds of feet in the course of a comparatively few miles, which means speed of water and resulting power. The American-Canadian boundary runs along the crest of the coast range—its location was so defined by the treaty of purchase from Russia—and from that crest to the very edge of the sea the earth is clothed with trees.

The coast line is very irregular, fringed with islands, indented by deep narrow channels. The largest steamers can penetrate far up many of the fiords. Everywhere is the timber. There are 12,000 miles of timbered shore-line on the Tongass National Forest alone.

The forest service has recently made the best estimates possible with available facilities of the resources of the two Alaskan national forests. The reconnaissance to date is admittedly incomplete—we do not know exactly how rich we are in timber—but on the basis of what has been done, it is estimated that the Alaskan forests would yield 700 million feet of timber annually on the basis of increase alone—that is, without decreasing the forest appreciably at first, and not at all after the first year. In other terms, it is estimated that local demands for saw timber, paper mills with a capacity of 3,000 tons per day—and 3,000 tons is six million pounds—could be fed from the natural yearly increase, without depleting the real supply. And that is a good deal of paper, when you come to consider it.

The natural query is, since Alaska offers such attractive field for a paper mill, why aren't there any up there? Capital usually doesn't wait to be asked three times before seizing a chance to earn good interest on investment.

Alaska is not producing paper for several reasons. In the first place, she is pretty remote. Transportation is just beginning to be put on an efficient and reliable basis, it is only in the last few years that the extent and value of the forests has been realized. Under normal conditions, before the war, the result of foreign competition, high freights, and the prevailing price of paper was such that Alaska as a paper-producer was on the wrong side of the coast line. But conditions are changing.

For the moment of course, a pulp mill in Alaska would be one of the most profitable bits of property you could choose to ask for. As one man put it, it would be "as good as a license to rob banks." With a guarantee of continuance of present conditions, capital would run to Alaska to build pulp mills. What obviously deters it, is the fear that after the war prices will drop until Alaskan investment would prove unprofitable.

But things may not be just the same after the war as they were before. Even if the price goes back all the way to the old level, which is by no means sure in view of increasing demand, there is the increasing efficiency of steamer service to Alaska to be considered, which promises that the peninsula can compete with western Canada and Norway under any conditions. Then too, if the Oriental market for paper develops as it is expected to develop, Alaska is the best and nearest place for the Orient to draw its pulp from. When China uses one-tenth as much paper per capita as the average European country, she will be calling for 1,000,000 tons a year.

The forest service has begun to receive inquiries from various interested parties about the purchase of stumpage in Alaskan forests. Sooner or later Alaska will be one of the world's great sources of paper. So long as we own the Alaskan national forests, we will be able to go on printing our papers and our books, though Norway and Canada both stop shipping us wood. We have not yet stopped taking our profits on the investment of seven million dollars that Mr. Seward made 50 years ago.

ADVANCE OF PRICE OF BREAD ALARMING

Federal Investigation May be Result of Jump to Six Cents.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Reports of actual increases in bread prices in various parts of the country, reaching here today, caused serious concern at the offices of the federal trade commission. The apparent certainty of a nation-wide advance in the price of the country's principal food made it clear that consideration of the problem by federal authorities must be hastened. It was stated that the members on the commission now on vacation would hurry back to Washington.

It is expected that the bread situation will be taken up immediately.

Commissioner Davis, the only member of the commission now in Washington, said today that the whole problem would be taken up and a solution sought, just as soon as possible.

Federal district attorneys throughout the country are reporting to the department of justice the actual advances in bread prices in their districts. The similarity of the advances in prices in different cities and localities, has caused department officials to believe the increases may follow some general scheme. An effort will be made to determine at once whether any violation of the anti-trust laws is involved.

PUBLIC FORUM

HUERTA AND HUGHES.

Editor Times-Democrat:

The leaders of the republican party have canonized the late unspeakable Huerta and he is now on the calendar of republican saints. Mr. Taft says he would have recognized the dictator had not Mr. Wilson's inauguration been so near. Mr. Hughes says the half breed usurper of the Mexican presidency should have been recognized and censures the president for not so doing. Saint Huerta, as Taft, Hughes and other republican leaders declare, would have assured peace to Mexico. After Huerta had caused President Madero to be assassinated he telegraphed to Taft: "I have overthrown the government. Henceforth peace and order will reign." Madero had been educated in this country and had imbibed democratic ideas. These were opposed by the exploiters of labor in Mexico and employers who reaped large profits by maintaining the system of peonage which had obtained under the presidency of Diaz.

As soon as possible after Huerta's command to his soldiers to murder Madero he ordered the arrest of Mexican congressmen some of whom were put to death. Huerta might have maintained peace in Mexico, but it would have been the peace all tyrants give to slaves.

The United States overthrew the government of Spain in Cuba, liberated the Cuban people from the bondage under which they were held and gave them the right of self-government. President McKinley favored a policy of "benevolent assimilation" toward the Philippines. Mr. Taft and Mr. Hughes think that the system of peonage for Mexican laborers, the crushing of every longing for better conditions and for the exercise their inalienable rights is America's duty.

The policy which Mr. Hughes and Mr. Taft would have the United States adopt toward Mexico is not humane nor in accord with the spirit of true Americanism. Huerta was not a president. He was a dictator, a tyrant and a murderer, now canonized as a saint by republican leaders. The wage men should be very suspicious of a presidential candidate who would foster peonage on the laborers of any county. One need not search long nor go for to find the motive for the criticism of the president for his reprisal to recognize the halfbreed who usurped power in Mexico by assassination.
